Grade 6 EBC Unit (Steve Jobs): STUDENT #3

In Steve Jobs' speech to college graduates, he talks about life: how it can help you understand. Jobs' wants them to look back to their past. It can help them realize the importance of life. "You have to trust that the dots will somehow connect in your future"(line 50-51). Look for what you love the most you might find it.

Jobs found what he loved and kept on doing it." I was lucky- I found what I loved to do early in life"(line 54). Some things can come out of luck. And others you have to just find on your own. Look in the past and it could help you make life-changing choices. "They somehow already know what you truly want to become"(line 131-132). From his point of view he has been through so much. "And much of what I stumbled into by following my curiosity and intuition turned out to be priceless"(line 30-31). Never let anything keep you down.

Some things come out of curiosity. You have to be surprised at the world ahead of you. "You can't connect the dots looking forward"(line 49). Everything has it's own way of getting around. You just have to find your own path. Jobs' speech should help the graduates figure out their life. "You can only connect the dots looking backwards"(line 49-50).

Life is going to be on your side. Something came to dawn on him and it led him to this. "I still loved what I did"(line 68). Life hits you in the head but you have to keep on rising up to the sky. Don't let life keep you from doing what you love. It makes everything worth living for.
